Plan Homecoming Service Sunday In Local Church

Plans for a homecoming service, with a basket dinner served at noon, were announced this week by Rev. Alice Harrell, pastor of the Four-square Gospel Church in Hamlin. The service will be held in the local church Sunday, October 23, Rev. Harrell said.

Floyd Farmer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Farmer of near Hamlin, will be a featured speaker in the all-day service. Farmer is attending Bible school in Los Angeles in preparation for the ministry.

Special music will be presented at intervals throughout the day, Rev. Harrell said, and a special Devine healing service will be conducted at 11 a. m.

The public is invited to attend the service.

Cager District Is Organized; Plan Schedule

Organization of the 6-A district basketball set-up was effected in a meeting in Rotan Wednesday evening, when representatives from the 13 schools in the district attended.

Olaf G. Smith of Roscoe was elected chairman of the board of control for the year and I. R. Huchingson of Hamlin was named secretary.

The district is to be divided into two zones, with the same schools in each zone as last year, Huchingson said.

A schedule of conference games is being drawn up by Jack Roten, coach at Haskell High School for the eastern zone, and Ed Williams, coach at Colorado City, is drawing up the slate for the western zone.

It is believed that conference play will get underway early in January, although pre-conference games will be played beginning late in November.

Schools in the eastern zone are: Stamford, Anson, Throckmorton, Haskell, Munday, Albany and Hamlin. Schools in the western zone are: Rotan, Merkel, Roscoe, Colorado City, Snyder and Roby.

Oil Production Hits New High in '48 Here

Oil production in Jones and Fisher counties touched a new high during 1948, reports issued this week in observance of national Oil Week, indicate.

Jones County led the entire region in this part of West Texas, with more than five million barrels of production. Fisher County was only a little short of one million barrels.

Production by counties adjacent to the Hamlin area, follows: Jones, 5,358,867; Fisher, 968,189; Haskell, 282,343; Nolan, 3,853; Scurry, 1,112,297; Stonewall, 18, 231; Taylor, 1,535,885.

Texas Oil Industry Bears Much of State Government Cost, Russell Says

Approximately 47 per cent of the cost of state government was paid last year by the oil industry, Ted Russell, vice president of the F&M National Bank, told members of the Lions Club Tuesday, and the Rotary Club Wednesday.

Russell appeared before both the service organizations in a talk observing annual Oil Progress week, October 16 to 22.

"It was 90 years ago in August," he said, when Colonel Drake drilled the first oil well in the United States. His find astounded the world.

"Today there are 34,000 oil companies operating in the United States, and many more in other parts of the world," he continued.

A total of 40 billion barrels of oil have been produced in this country during the past 90 years, Russell told the clubs. This has been 65 percent of all the oil produced in the world he claimed.

"Texas land owners in 1948 were paid the sum of $434,000,000 in leases, royalties and other income from oil production. This represented greater income than was realized from any other one source.

Russell outlined the history of oil industry development in the United States. The second well, he said, was found in Oklahoma in 1859, when oil was found seeping out of a spring. The first Texas well was completed in 1866.

Since those dates various rich oil strikes have been made in other parts of the nation until today oil is produced in 26 states. Every county in Texas, he said, has had land leased for oil, although not all of them produce oil.

Hamlin area's first oil production came in 1926 when Uncle Sam Stephens completed a well eight miles southwest of here. Production of here. Production was from the Flippin sand, and a new field was opened which later was extended northward. Many of the wells in that field are still producing, he told the clubs.

The Flippin sand, he explained, has a production depth of from four to five feet, while the Palo Pinto Reef, which is the area production

Farnsworth Hits Two Good Pays

Heavy Flow of Oil From Swastika Sand Passed up for Production in Gunsight

Two good paying oil structures have been found in the Farnsworth No. 2, south of Hamlin, when the tool reached a total depth of 3,310 feet bringing a heavy flow of oil from the Swastika.

The Swastika sand was encountered at 3,301 and operators drilled nine feet into the structure. The well flowed unrestrained for a considerable period of time early Wednesday morning, but no test was announced.

In the Gunsight sand a drillstem test brought gas to the surface in six and one-half minutes, and a considerable quantity of oil surfaced in 14 minutes. No gauge of potential production was announced.

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company, drilling the No. 1 Dickey Ferguson, a west offset to Pardue-Toller No. 5, were below 4,200 feet Thursday. The well encountered good pay in the Swastika, but was drilling ahead for Canyon Lime production.

Texas Pacific has completed three wells in the area northwest of Hamlin during the past week. One of the wells is an Ellenburger producer and the other two are from the Swastika section.

The Pardue No. 6 Account 1 gauged 259.44 barrels of 42 gravity oil in 24 hours from open hole in the Swastika at 3,773-77 feet. Flow was through quarter-inch choke.

The TP No. 3 Port H. Williams was gauged at 169.74 barrels in 24 hours from the open hole in the Swastika at 3,773-78 feet through 20-64 choke.

The new Ellenburger producer is the Pardue No. 5, Account 1, which

Girl Is Injured in Fall From High Wire

Miss Quata Miller, 13-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. V. Miller of Hamlin, suffered concussion and serious bruises about 1 o'clock Saturday afternoon when she fell from a "trolley" wire near her home.

The girl, with other children, had been sliding down a cable attached to a tree limb, and on her second trip her grip failed and she fell about seven or eight feet.

Taken to the Hamlin Memorial Hospital for treatment, she was released and returned to her home Wednesday. Doctors said she would have to remain in bed for at least one month.

Quata is a student in the eighth grade in Hamlin schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe W. Douglas and Miss Billie Kathryn Lancaster attended the homecoming celebration at Texas Technological College, Lubbock, last week end. All graduates of the Lubbock school.

3,160 Bales Ginned In City by Thursday

Hamlin's two gins had turned out 3,160 bales of cotton from the 1949 crop prior to Thursday, managers of the firms said.

Both gins have been unable to keep up with the steady stream of cotton trucks and wagons that have been bringing the staple to Hamlin, and they are operating on schedules ranging from 18 to 24 hours.

Elmo Bellah, manager of the Producer's Gin, estimated Thursday that only 25 per cent of the crop in Hamlin's area has been harvested. He said the present season may rival the record for Hamlin when 18,000 bales were ginned.

Street Markers Are Ready for Installation

Hamlin's long-awaited street markers were assembled Wednesday night, when members of the Rotary and Lions Clubs spent several hours getting cross street markers in their proper places and drilling holes in the standard.

B. V. Newberry, chairman of the joint club committee, said only a few house numbers remain to be sold, but that money from their sale is needed urgently to complete the final installation.

The committee will need approximately $200 more than is now on hand to purchase cement for setting the standards and pay for drilling holes and other incidental expenses.

A list of those who have not yet purchased house numbers was compiled by Newberry, and a special committee from the two clubs will be named to make the final roundup of those who have not yet paid. Many of them, Newberry explained, have not yet been seen, having been away from home when the committee called at their residences.

Establishment of free city mail delivery is awaiting the erection of the markers, and the committee is anxious to ask for a final inspection by the post office department. The inspection cannot be made until all markers are in place and house numbers have been affixed to residences.

Conoco Open House Is Observing Oil Week

Continental Oil Co. of Hamlin is observing "open house" to the public all of this week. E. C. Feagan, owner of the firm said Wednesday.

The occasion is celebration of national Oil Week, and Feagan said he would be glad to have any person interested to visit the company's plant. Products of the Continental Oil company will be put on display during the week.

Pipers Only West Team Unbeaten

Hamlin Eked Out Win Over Roscoe Team Last Friday 12-6; Merkel Game Crucial

Hamlin's Pied Pipers, riding high as the only unbeaten team in the western half of district 6-A, managed to retain their perfect standing last Friday night with a close win over the fighting Roscoe Plowboys.

The locals' goal line was crossed for the first time this season in the were credited with the only points Roscoe game, and the Plowboys only points made during the season against Hamlin.

Two other teams in the district, Rotan and Merkel, have perfect records in conference plays, but both have been defeated in games outside the district.

Hamlin's Joe Allen Dean, backfield man, lifted flagging hopes of Piper fans last Friday night when he scored a touchdown on a 65-yard punt return to give Hamlin its first counter in the contest.

Dean then pitched the ball to A. Goodgame end, to carry it across for the second tally, giving a one-touchdown lead over the powerful Plowboys.

Roscoe, turning on the power, practically demolished the Pipers line in the first half.

It was during the first period that Hammack and Haynes, stellar backs for Roscoe, set up the first touchdown in the game.

Haynes made a thrilling 45-yard run to take the ball to the Pipers 19-yard line, and three plays later it was shoved across the stripe to ruin Hamlin's unscored-on record for the season.

The Pipers managed to block the try for extra point, and held the Roscoe men to the six points.

Dean received the kick in the second quarter, handed the ball to Goodgame, and the Pipers gained 33 yards on the return. The Plowboy counter-attack weakened Hamlin's offensive on Roscoe's 25-yard line.

Later in the same period the Plowboys, using the same Haynes-Hammack combination, drove to Hamlin's 20-yard line, and the Pipers were saved from a possible tied game by the end of the quarter.

It was in the third quarter that the Pipers got going in earnest, and took the ball from their own five-yard line to the Plowboy goal.

Dean returned a punt for 25 yards passed to Johnson for 14 yards, and threw to Goodgame from the 43-yard line. Goodgame took the ball over for Hamlin's first count.

Dean then took a Plowboy punt on the Piper 33-yard line and galloped 65 yards down the sidelines for Hamlin's second touchdown. Try for conversion failed.

Throughout the remainder of the game both teams staged beautiful defensive plays to hold the other scoreless.

With the Roscoe win marked up for the Pipers, Hamlin loomed as a major threat in the district championship race.

Slated to face the Merkel Badgers, one of the three teams with a perfect conference record, Friday evening, the Pipers were working hard this week under the tutelage of Coaches Red Burditt and Vernon Townsend.

The game with Merkel will be played in Piper Stadium at 8:00 o'clock Friday evening.

A sports writer for the Abilene Reporter-News, in discussing the Pipers' record for the season, said

Mice Defeated Anson; Play Again This Week

Hamlin's Mighty Mice gridsters took an easy victory from the Anson Tiger Cubs last Thursday evening in the county seat, when final score was 26 to 7.

The two teams were slated for a return engagement on Piper field Thursday evening of this week. The game here was slated to begin at 7:30.

This week: "The Pied Pipers of Hamlin owns the finest defensive record in this area and possibly the entire state. Coach Jesse "Red" Burditt's Hamlinites have allowed their foes only six points in five games and those weren't scored on them until last week.

"The Pipers haven't been solutes offensively, either, scoring 114 points for an average of 20 points plus per game."

Winner of Friday night's game will be tied with Rotan for district conference championship, provided the Yellowhammers succeed in defeating the Roscoe Plowboys in their game Friday evening.

Burditt said Wednesday the Pipers' starting lineup will be the same as in the last home game. The Pipers are in excellent condition, Burditt said, and all will be available for the game.

Injuries suffered two weeks ago by Charles Binnicker have healed sufficiently to permit him to start in the game against Merkel. Binnicker was out of the game last week.

Jones Countians In Stellar Role In McMurry Tilt

Residents of Jones County who saw the McMurry Indians' 39-14 victory over Texas A&I Saturday night saw their "favorite sons" do a good job.

Quarterback Doyle Dean of Hamlin, Halfback Brad Rowland Hamlin, Half back Weldon Day Anson, Fullback Floyd Sampson Anson, and End Les Cowan of Hamlin played only half the game, as Coach Wilford Moore pulled them at the half (McMurry leading 20-6) to save them for the Abilene Christian scrap Saturday night. But in those two quarters, they did more than what most players accomplish in four.

Sampson smashed his way for 107 yards and one touchdown; Cowan set up a touchdown on a 41-yard pass from Rowland; Day did a good job of running interference and kicking 3 points; and Dean was pulling "hidden ball tricks" from his T quarterback slot most of the early evening.

But the show was not over for Jones County at the halfback, a backfield mainstay for the Indians most of the final two quarters. He scored one touchdown. In other words, Jones County players accounted for 27 Indian points.

For A&I, Earl Turner of Hamlin, starting tackle, was game co-captain.

Plan Board Asks City Ordinance To Tax Peddlers

A request that the Hamlin Council pass an ordinance to restrict house-to-house peddlers in the Civic Planning Board in its regular monthly session.

The request was made after full discussion of such itinerant vendors in Hamlin. It was pointed out that Haskell, Rule and several other nearby towns recently have passed such legislation, in which itinerant peddlers are assessed heavy fees for license permits.

The board also voted unanimously to seek the construction of a swimming pool and a community building for Hamlin. A resolution was passed asking the city council to call an election for the purpose of voting bonds to build the pool and house.

Various proposals for an annual event in Hamlin were discussed, but no plan was adopted by the board.

I. R. Huchingson, chairman, submitted his resignation and Roy J. Curtis was elected chairman to succeed him. Huchingson said his many other duties prevent his attendance at all sessions of the board.

The Problem of Races

It is a problem that cannot be solved by waving of a magic wand. Neither can it be solved by the passing of a law, nor the issuing of an official decree—this problem of racial discrimination.

Hamlin businessmen, worried about the inability of local farmers to obtain sufficient laborers, wrestled with the problem last week, and promptly decided it is insoluble.

Roby businessmen faced the same question and came up with what they believed to be a solution. They lowered the racial bars at local cafes and fountains, hoping this would serve to attract more Mexican laborers to that area.

The Herald does not commend Roby, nor does it condemn Hamlin for the results of efforts in either place. While action of the Roby businessmen may have been right, yet the motive was essentially wrong. It was a motive of selfish interest.

There are individuals among the darker races who are clean, and there are other individuals among those races who are unclean. There are individuals among the white race who are clean, and there are others with white skins who are filthy. Cleanliness is not the exclusive attribute of any one race, and thus the argument most often used in support of segregation becomes ineffective.

But freedom from discrimination can never result from laws nor decrees; it cannot be brought about by the mass action of any given group. Abolition of this evil can come only from the hearts of men and women who learn that this practice is not in accord either with the tenets of Christianity nor the precepts of democracy.

In democracy we are taught that "all men are created equal," and in Christianity we are taught that "God hath made of all nations one blood, for to dwell upon the face of the earth." Until those truths are accepted by men and women at large, we will continue to be troubled with this problem which more than once has shaken the foundations of our government.

The Herald believes a solution of the problem is a simple one. It was taught by a very gentle Man whose sandaled feet trod the hills of Judea almost 2,000 years ago. It is contained in a book whose sales are large, but whose contents are understood by few.

The problem would melt away entirely, and the clamor of the professional dogooders, who try to make over the world in their own image, would subside if people generally would apply the principles of the Man from Galilee.

The whole matter is summed up in these words: "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them."

After living through a "New Deal" that wasn't fair, a "Fair Deal" that isn't new, and a "Queer Deal" that stinks to high heaven, isn't it about time for our government to quit thinking in gamblers' terms and get down to a practical solution of the problems brought on by its own double dealing?

Finally, education alone can conduct us to that enjoyment which is, at once, best in quality and infinite in quantity.—Horace Mann

Be thorough in all you do and remember that though ignorance often may be innocent, pretension is always despicable. —W. E. Gladstone

More "Bosses" Needed in American System; Writer Lauds Small Firms

By DeWITT EMERY

There are about four million "firms" or private business establishments in this country. The astonishing fact here is that even though the United States is the land of the most fabulous "mass production" in the world, nevertheless 97 percent of its business establishments are small businesses employing less than 100 people each, and in about a million, or one-fourth, of all of our "business establishments" the boss himself is the whole works.

Of course in these one-man enterprises there is frequently some bossing and some assistance from wives, and full credit is due these wives not only for what they do but also for what they do without to make a go of thousands of struggling small businesses.

But these facts about all the "little people" in our land of industrial giants are far more important than their mere interest as believe-it-or-not statistics. Because one of the things most needed to keep our kind of economy going and growing is a steady stream of more and more men—and women—who have the ability and the will to be their own boss. They are the seedbed of free enterprise. Not only do big businesses grow from small roots, but even after they are grown, most big businesses could not exist without the many small suppliers and small retail enterprisers who help sell and service their products.

We speak of the United States as a "strong nation." Yet its strength is only the sum total of the materials and facilities, the productivity and skills of its people and of the enterprises which they own and operate. The United States is strong because her people are free and her enterprises likewise are free and growing.

Yet it seems difficult for many people in the world to realize why this country, a mere youngster among nations, is so productively strong that it is now carrying the lion's share of the economic and financial burdens of the entire world. They see this as a fact, yet the startling truth remains that instead of striving to copy our way of life every other nation in the world is moving away from it toward totalitarianism. We live in the sole remaining nation on earth with a free democratic society based on an economy of private enterprise. It is a tremendous challenge.

But the challenge is not so much to our relatively few industrial giants. They are already big and strong. It is rather to our millions of small businesses to grow stronger and bigger. And most of all, it is a challenge to us as individuals to keep the seedbed of brand new enterprises well tended and growing.

It is a challenge to the men and women who believe in free enterprise, and who have the initiative and leadership, to try it for themselves—to be their own boss, to add to rather than take from the supply of jobs and productive output of our system.

This system of living and working together which we call "The American Way of Life" is a logical product of its environment. Nature provided ample room and lavish raw materials; and our Constitutional rules of the game were expressly drawn to make it possible for enterprising individuals to translate them into productive usefulness. It is really no surprise that in such an environment we should have many small enterprises.

The real surprise is in our changing attitude toward our economic environment. It is still much the same and opportunity still patiently knocks on the doors of those who listen. Yet, whenever this subject of being your own boss comes up, there is always lots of loose talk to be heard about the "good old days," "pioneer spirit" and the like. During the depression it became the gloomy fashion to declare that we had lost all of our pioneer spirit so we fight as well resign ourselves to living in a "mature" economy. More people seemed to be interested in "security" rather than in the doubtful risk of being enterprisers. Graduating classes heard a lot about how to get a job but not much about how to be their bosses.

Fortunately the events of World War II put an end to much of this nonsense by comforting us—as well as our enemies—with some spectacular proof; first, that our free enterprise system wasn't dying of "maturity" and secondly, that there was plenty of "pioneer spirit" left in the American people.

Recent Test in Pennsylvania Shows Up Trend of Voter Thought in Nation

Something happened in the 26th Pennsylvania Congressional District in September that the politicians of both major political parties would do well to heed. The special election held there could well have set the pattern to be followed by candidates in the Congressional elections next year, that is, if they would insure victory.

In November, 1948, just ten months previously, the Fair Deal candidate, Robert Lewis Coffey, Jr., vanquished the Republican incumbent by a majority of 12,000. He met an untimely death as a result of an airplane accident, thus necessitating the special election that was held in September. His mother, Mrs. Robert L. Coffey, ran on the Fair Deal ticket in the special election. It looked like good political strategy because it should have rolled up a lot of sentimental votes for her, and undoubtedly the lady did garner quite a number of votes on that score.

During the campaign Mrs. Coffey left no doubt as to how she stood on the Fair Deal legislative program. She was one-hundred percent for each and every one of the socialistic pieces of legislation that the Administration, without too great success, is trying to bludgeon through the Congress. The lady, also, was for repeal of the Taft-Hartley Act.

Her opponent, John P. Saylor, on the other hand, campaigned on a platform of sound "Americanism." He declared in no mistakable language his opposition to "Statism," the "Welfare State," "deficit governmental spending" and "exorbitant, punitive taxation." He, also, spoke kindly of the Taft-Hartley Act, and with a few minor changes pledged himself, if elected, too vote for its retention.

The voters of Pennsylvania Congressional District Number 26 were left with no doubts as to where these candidates stood. For once voters had a clear-cut choice—to vote for the lady candidate who promised support of more and more governmental hand-outs, or to vote for the male candidate who stood for a return to the fundamental principles on which America was founded and upon which this nation flourished up to the advent of the New Deal.

Well, the voters made their choice. They elected Saylor by a majority of close to 11,000. They proved what I have long maintained that, given a real choice, the American electorate will declare itself for the maintenance of our Republic as defined by the Constitution and the Bill of Rights.

Now, this 26th Pennsylvania district was a fair testing ground. Johnston (population 70,000), its largest town, is steel manufacturing city with a large union membership. The three counties of the district have many soft coal mines with a large U. M. W. membership, in addition to a farming population. Combined the steel workers, coal miners and farmers constitute a big majority of the district's population.

Union Labor leaders received a severe jolt in this special election. Had not a majority of the union members voted for Saylor, he could not have won. His victory conclusively proved two things: (1) that union leaders cannot deliver union vote, and (2) that workers do not consider the Hartley Act the slave-labor legislation their leaders claim it to be.

Yes, something happened in the 26th Pennsylvania Congressional district last September—something very important. In the official record it will be recorded as a victory of a Republican candidate over his Democratic opponent. But, in my book, it transcended that. It was a triumph for sound Americanism over unsound Paternalism—a demonstration that, given an opportunity to express itself, our American citizenry still believes in the "American Way." That bye-election could mark the start of America's about-face on the road towards Socialism down which this nation has been marching these past sixteen years.

This Was A Quicker Answer

Henry Ward Beecher was in the midst of an unusually eloquent speech when some wag in the audience, possessed of less good breeding than spirits, crowed like a cock. It was done to perfection, and the audience was in a gale of helpless laughter.

Mr. Beecher stood perfectly calm. He stopped speaking, listening till the crowing ceased. While the audience was still laughing, he took out his watch. Then he said slowly, as if in deep thought, "That's strange. My watch says it is only 10:00 p. m. But there can't be any mistake about it. It must be morning, for the instances of the lower animals are absolutely infallible."

Looking for the Safe Thing

An Australian, who had just arrived in New York after a long trip across the continent, stood one day and watched a sandlot baseball game. His interest grew and grew until he went so far as to ask to be permitted to try his hand at it.

He trotted out onto the field where four players were shagging practice flies and stood with them for a moment or two. Then a line drive came at him like an express train. He put his hands up with the intention of catching it, but the horsehide tore right through his fingers and bounced off his nose.

After the flow of blood had been staunch he said, "Thanks, boys, but I guess it's a little too dangerous for me. He then proceeded to catch a train for Niagara Falls, where he walked a tight rope high above the roaring rapids.

Double Trouble

The bride of a few weeks noticed that her husband was depressed. "Arthur, dearest," she said, "I know something is troubling you, and since your worries are now my worries, I want you to tell me what it is."

"Very well," he said. "We've sad a letter from a girl in New York, and she's suing us for breach of promise."

Sweet Talk

"What brought me here?" asked the rosebud.

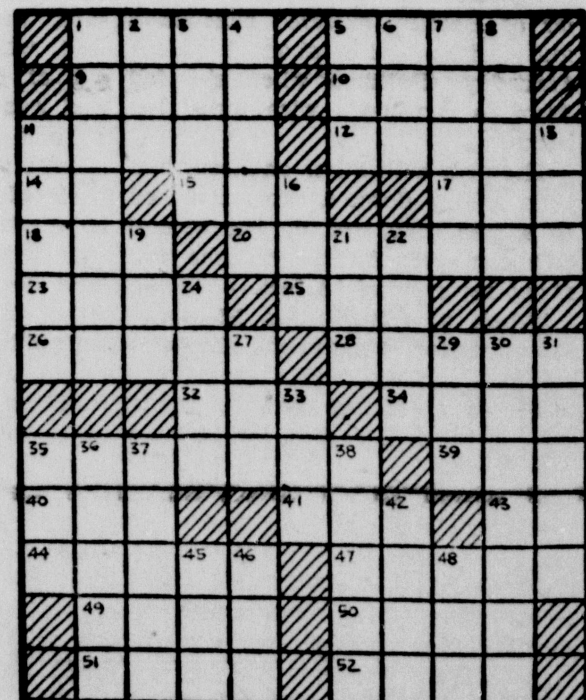

"You were brought by the stalk," the rose answered.

The seals were sold to Hamlin business firms by a committee consisting of Mrs. John Edwards, Mrs. Roy Kelley, Mrs. Jack White, Mr. Bill Thompson, Mrs. Nute Stephens, Mrs. Mickey McGuire, Mrs. Alton Mayfield and Mrs. H. E. Lawson. Funds from the sale of the seals will be used to furnish hot lunches to firemen when they are working on fires, and to provide the annual Christmas banquet for the department.

Cotton Defoliation Demonstration Given

A demonstration on the chemical defoliation of cotton plants was given Wednesday afternoon on the Dave Herbst farm, about five miles southeast of Hamlin. The farm is occupied by J. B. Wilson.

A liquid spray was used in the demonstration, and those in charge said the leaves of the plants will drop off within several days.

Many farmers are using chemical defoliation to hasten harvest of their crops, and the use of the method is said to be spreading. After the leaves of the plants are killed, it is pointed out, cotton picking becomes an easier task, and less trash is gathered with the picked cotton.

Even So.

There isn't so much difference between a man's wants and a woman's wants," declared Mrs. Smith. "Oh, yes, there is," insisted Mr. Smith. "A man wants all he can get."

"Yes?" said Mrs. Smith, waiting.

Water Problems Of West Texas to Be Presented

Factual information upon the water problems and needs of every town in West Texas is to be presented to officials of the U. S. Bureau of Reclamation, at the annual directors' meeting of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in Fort Worth, Nov. 22.

President John D. Mitchell of the WTCC has called upon all local directors of the organization and local Chamber of Commerce managers to prepare an official document, to be signed by those officials and the mayor, citing water needs and problems. The information is to be sent to WTCC for delivery to the officials at the Fort Worth meeting where it will be presented by Lawrence Hagy, Chairman of the WTCC Municipal Water Rights Committee.

"State with all your power of statistics and persuasion your domestic and industrial water needs and requests for help," the letter says.

Mitchell and Bandeen call attention to the river basin surveys of the Bureau of Reclamation, now under way in West Texas, which may eventually call for the construction of some $400 million in dams, reservoirs and pipelines for the West Texas area.

WTCC slogan for the Nov. 22 convention is "Dam West Texas or West Texas is Damned."

SPUR—Organization of a Reserve Corps in Spur was undertaken in a meeting Wednesday evening, when Major J. Samsell, unit instructor of the Lubbock district, was guest speaker.

Parker May's Job Is Vital One for Triumph of America in Cold War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Uncle Sam these days is keeping Russia well-informed on news the Soviet government suppresses. Helping direct these activities for Uncle Sam is Parker May of Hamlin, who has been recently promoted to executive director of the International Information Service.

Here are the kind of State Department activities which come under the West Texan's supervision:

When the Russian schoolteacher, Madame Kosenkina, made her dramatic leap to freedom from the top floor of the Russian consulate in New York, news of it was all over Moscow within an hour.

No thanks to the Russian radios or newspapers! They carried not one word of the story. But the "Voice of America" broadcasting from a high-powered station in Munich carried the story quickly to the few Russians who dare listen to American broadcasts. By word of mouth the story passed on until it was common knowledge.

Today, Russian engineers are working to jam our high-powered transmitters so American broadcasts cannot be heard in the Soviet. So far, their efforts and tremendous expense have been unsuccessful. The State Department hopes they will continue to be.

The "Voice of America," the U. S. broadcast to the world and particularly the Soviet - controlled countries, is just one of the information fronts which the U. S. is using to fight Russian propaganda.

NEWS BY WIRELESS

Far less publicized, but equally effective, are the wireless bulletin condensations of news which are distributed each by the State Department to every American embassy, to channel into foreign newspapers.

American information centers and libraries are maintained in many parts of the world where shelves of books, magazines and newspapers are readily available to the local citizen.

In some of the Soviet occupied countries, American "librarians" have the satisfaction of accommodating hundreds of hungry - for news citizens while they watch a nearby Russian information center completely deserted.

"In sending information about the U. S. abroad," May said, "we take into consideration the popular misconceptions which foreigners have about America."

One of these is the idea that America has no culture of its own. To counteract this, prominent professors are sent abroad to lecture, recordings of typical American music are mailed out and exhibits of American art are transported from place-to-place.

May's recent promotion was made possible by the Hoover reorganization plan for the State Department. It is one of the most important posts in the State Department set-up heading up activities of 4,400 employees, but May started at the bottom of the ladder to reach it.

The Hamlin boy came to Washington in 1932 and attended Benjamin Franklin College, working his way through as a day laborer for the Department of Interior. He received his master's degree from Franklin and over the past 17 years with the government has worked in virtually every department in the government - Interior, Treasury, Agriculture, War Foods, Veterans Administration, Office of War Information, until he reached his present $10,000-a-year job with the State Department.

May met his wife, a New York girl, while working in Washington. They have a 3 year-old daughter, Flora Judith, who is at present visiting May's sister, Mrs. J. Frank Johnson of Rotan.

The government career man rediscovered that Uncle Sam has no romance. May's wife who is a secretary with the United Nations Office of Education here was asked to go to Paris for the UNESCO conference for several weeks. May's office decided to send him abroad on a mission and the two had hoped to take their vacation in Europe together. But, in meantime, the Hoover Commission report was adopted and May was promoted so the trip was cancelled.

May was born in McCaulley in Fisher County but later moved to Hamlin. His mother, Mrs. M. P. May Sr. resides at Hamlin where his brother, Tate May, is president of the bank. Another brother, Bob May, resides at Colorado City.

SNYDER—John A. Smith of Snyder was awarded a title as a "Star Farmer of 1949" in the annual Future Farmers Convention in Kansas City. He was one of four West Texas boys to be given the honor.

STAMFORD—Loss of more than $50 was reported in a robbery of a local service station last Sunday. The money is said to have been taken from the cash register about 4 a. m.

Area Grid Fans Look For Battle Saturday

Two fired-up football teams, the McMurtry Indians and the Abilene Christian Wildcats clash here Saturday night in their traditional battle—one that will un-knot the Texas Conference race.

Currently the cross-town rivals are tied for the championship of the conference. But if one team were in the cellar and the other on top, the game would be a stubborn fight. At least, that's the way the hard-fought rivalry has been in the past.

Since the series started in 1930, ACC has won nine of the scraps; McMurtry, seven.

Both teams won convincing victories last week—ACC rallying to stomp the University of Tampa 38 to 12 and McMurtry surprising Texas A&I 39 to 14.

STAMFORD—Karen Elaine, the tiny baby who was found on the doorstep of a local home several weeks ago, has been awarded to foster parents by Judge Owen Thomas. Identity of the child's new parents was not announced.

Another nice thing about silence is that it can't be repeated.

Market Prices in Higher Trend for Products of Farm

Most southwest farm products brought steady to higher prices during the past week, the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Production and Marketing Administration reported.

Cattle receipts increased sharply last week over the week before. Texas sheep receipts increased, but other markets fell off. Hog numbers declined a little.

Cattle were steady to strong at Fort Worth, Denver and Chicago, and some classes gained at other markets. However, heifers, calves, and feeders showed some weakness at Kansas City. Calves lost $1 to $2 at Houston and San Antonio, and cows fell 50 cents to $1 at Houston. Canner and cutter cows ranged from $11 to $13.50 at South Texas markets, $10 to $13 at Oklahoma City, and $10 to $14 at Fort Worth.

Eggs and poultry remained in good demand at about steady prices. Current egg receipts sold mainly from 43 to 53 cents a dozen in Arkansas, 43 in Colorado, 53 to 55 in Louisiana, and 45 to 53 in Texas. Turkey marketing remained very light.

Cotton closed Monday 50 cents to $1 a bale lower for the week. Middling 15-16 brought 28.70 at Dallas, 28.90 at Houston, 29.15 at

New Orleans and 29.30 at Little Rock.

STAMFORD—Damages estimated at $25,000 were suffered in a fire which swept through the business section of Lueders last Tuesday morning.
